Indian Summer.

Prepares to pave only Winter's wave. When Autumn in a reveire lost, The mellow daytime dreams away : When Summer comes, in musing mind, To gaze once more on hill and dell, To mark how many sheaves they bind,

With balmy breath she whispers low, The dying flowers look up and give Their sweetest incense ere thy go,
For her who made their beauties live. She enters 'neath the woodlands shade, Her zephyrs lift the lingering leaf,

And bear it gentle where are laid The loved and lost ones of its grief. At last old Autumn, rising, takes Again his sceptre and his throne.

Sweet Summer sighing, flies the plain, And waiting Winter gaunt and grim Sees mister Autumn hoard his grain And smiles to think it's all of him.

These lands were purchased because of their special adaptation to wool growing, fruit, and grapes. For these purposes, we are assured, there is no better country in the United States. Mr. Christopher Wardall and others, who have visited Cherokee county the present season, agree with Prof. Christy in his representations of its fertility and perfect adaptation to these special uses. ### Free Negroes in Louisiana.

On the 1st instant the law passed by the Legislature of Louisiana against the introduction of free negroes or persons of color into that State, went into force. It provides that the police authorities shall lodge in jail any free person of color coming into the State on board any steamer plying out of the limits of the State, and is to remain in prison until she leaves. The Captain of such vessel can release the negro by executing a bond of five hundred dollars, conditioned that the steamer will leave the port in twentyfour hours, and when discharged the master must pay forty cents for every day the negro has been confined.

The Harbor-Masters are required to exact from the masters of vessels coming into port a written statement, on oath, of the number, name and place of residence of every free person of sel. S similar statement is required to be furnished the Chief of Police .the law is liable to a fine of $250.

The act gives the informer of any violation of it one-half of the fines collected, and makes him a competent witness.

What will become of the free negroes? Will their abolition friends do any better for them than for the slaves they have decoyed from comfortable homes in the South?

The New Railroad Scheme.

The Salisbury Watchman seems rather opposed to building a Railroad to connect the N. C. Road at Charlotte, lest the enterprize might, among other reasons assigned by the Watchman, injure the commerce of Salisburegion was occupied by the Cherokee ry. Now, we do not think that Salisbury would be injured by building this road, even should it not be extended beyond Statesville, which it would be so soon, we conjecture, as the requisite stock might be subscribed along the route,-for who ever knew a railroad stop be wanting so much to enjoy; its advantages. We believe it is the design of the friends of the enterprize to extend the road, until it reach the Virginia line; and who can then doubt the great benefit which the road will confer upon towns and cities in North Carolina? The country over which the road is destined to pass, is rich in natural resources, which, are yet undeveloped, a country wanting only transportation facilities to bloom and blossom like the rose. This road would accomplish for that region what, railroad facilities have done for other portions of the country,-stimulate industry by offering incentive to cultivate the soil, which is almost virgin, raise stock, and pursue other indus-

Then, if Salisbury be the best market for this new trade-and we know that her merchants will not fall in the rear in point of liberality and enterprize-she will share largely this trade inasmuch, as she will be the nearest market, except Statesville if she, be at all considered. Salisbury has capital, has manufactures, has a corps of enterprizing merchcolor brought by him on board his ves- ants and business men, who understand well their interests-men who would not be slow to profit by whatever might offer in any new Any master violating this provision of field of operations. But for all that, if better markets might be attainable elsewhere, the probability is that many people would be very apt to try them; but in that case, more money would be brought home and put in circulation: and our farmers could then go to Salisbury, Statesville, or Charlotte and purchase supplies with cash. That this road is much needed by the citizens of Iredell and a large scope of country north and west of it, is, we think, too manifest to require an argument, We moreover think, that several of our seaports would be in this place continues to progress with | materially benefitted by its construction .-This road we also, believe, would materially promote the travel and freighting interest up on several other railroad lines in the State. and not injure their business.

Mr. Clifton took Mr. Denton by the arm and suggested that they had better go to the house, but Mr. Denton said he was not able to walk there, and just at that moment seeing a lady, one of their neighbors, passing near by, Mr. C. called to her and asked her to remain with Mr. Denton while he ran for a doctor. By this time Mr. Denton became so faint that he had to lie down. Mr. Clifton immediately started for a doctor, and soon returned, but only to find to his horror that Mr. Denton had breathed his last. He died in about 15 minutes after receiving the wound. No blame can certainly attach to Mr. Clifton for the accident, though we learn that his reason has nearly been dethroned on account of it. ## Affray at Boston.

A sad collision between two promi nent business men occurred at the office of the Middlesex Mills, in Boston, on Saturday last. Since the financial difficulties in which the mills were involved by the failure of Messrs. This difference has been manifested at various public meetings, and one of the most prominent of those who were dissatisfied was Dr. J. C. Fay, jr., as treasurer, and has since frequently called at the office to look into the books of the concern. ### Discovery of the Tomb of Pharach

A letter from Cairo, in the Constitutionel, says the general subject of conversation in that city is the discovery which has just been made by the well known archeologist, M. Marietta. He has found at Thebes, after long and difficult researches, the tomb, still intact, of Pharaoh Amosis. The king is J. C. COVER, (Ed. " Herald,") Lancaster, Wis. "We highly lying in a coffin completely covered with gold leaf, ornamented with large wings painted on it. Thirty jewels of great value were found in the same cof-fin by the side of the king, as was also a hatchet of gold, ornamented with figures in lapis lazuli.

Some years ago, M. Marietta had a liece of good fortune in finding in the lomb of Apis the jewels which now the principal of the latter, is all sold. It gives universal satisfaction." GEORGE ROSE (Druggist.) Cardington. O. "I have been selling your Ext. for the last year, and have not known in to fall in a single instance."

R. WRIGHT, (Druggist.) Troy. O. "I have sold out all the Rat, Roach, &c., Ext. The Rat Killer is in great demand." piece of good fortune in finding in the tomb of Apis the jewels which now form the principal ornament of the Egyptian Museum of Louvre. The jewels of Amosis are still more valuable, from their number and quality.-This discovery of a royal tomb intact, is the most important one that M. Marietta has made in Egypt.

Crossing the Bottom of Schuylkil River in Submarine Armor.

A man named Wilson successfully crossed the bottom of the Schuylkil river, from the east to the west bank. near Philadelphia, on Thursday. The exhibition attracted an immense concourse of spectators, ten thousand probably, being present. The Ledger says:

About 4 o'clock, he appeared on the bank, with his suit on, consisting of India rubber dress, covering him up as far as the neck. Over this was a copper covering extending to the throat, Bell, aged 2 years 11 months and 27 days. covering his breast and shoulders .-His hands were free, the arms covered with the India rubber cloth, tightly bandaged at the wrists, to prevent the entrance of the water. His head covering consisted of a large copper helmet. Behind was attached a small gut- [CORRECTED WEEKLY BY J. F. ALEXANDER & CO.] ta percha hose, about one hundred feet in length, which reached to a piece of machinery on board a canal boat, which was worked with a fly wheel, driving two pumps, to supply fresh air. Below the connecting tube was a valve for the escape of the foul air. A small rope was tied round his body, one end of which was held by the man on the canal boat, by means of which the submerged man was to give signal in case of accident. Another rope was also suspended under water from one side of the river to the other, as a guide, which he held on to while passing over. The pipe for the supply of fresh air not being long enough to reach across the river, the canal boat, with the pumps and machines, accompanied him over and returning. He reached the western side in twenty-five minutes from the time of entering the water. The trip back was made in twenty minutes .-His progress through the water was indicated by a slight bubbling and rippling as he passed along.

Unpardonable Outrages in Utah.

The Mormon iniquity has at last reached its crisis. Our readers will not forget the recent murder of a citizen, Dom. Goods, who, having brought suit against Brigham Young, was conveniently put out of the way by his myrmidons before the case came to trial. But the last Flour, crime of these atrocious outlaws ex- Family 000 @575 ceeds anything that they have hitherto dared to commit. The assassination in cold blood, upon the very streets of Grain, their capital and beneath the broad Corn light of day, of Sergeant Pike of the 10th Infantry, was an outrage against humanity, which must show the necessity of bringing these miserable wretch- Hides, es to terms in the shortest and most effectual way. The unfortunate soldier was standing near the Salt Lake Hotel with some of his companions, without the least expectation of being attacked, when a ruffian came up and shot him mortally. Immediately, upon the commission of the murder, the Mormon populace in great numbers interfered successfully to prevent the arrest of the miscreant, and he was thus assisted in escaping. The only pretence of provocation for the cowardly deed, was that some time previous, Sergeant Pike had struck the scoundrel a blow, which had been given in obedience to the orders of a superior officer, and purely in self-defence. The killing was altogether as malicious, wonton and pusilanimous an act as ever disgraced the annals of violence. The arrangements looking to his escape had been made beforehand, and Brigham's own son was among the Danites who interfered to save him from capture. By all means, the crime must be expiated, and the fittest expiation of it, in our judgment, would be the hanging of the murderer and the Prophet on the same scaffold .- Pet. Ex.

The Cause of the San Juan Affair. It is a matter of historical record that the invasion of a corn-field in Rhode Island, by a fillibuster hog belonging to an adjacent farm, brought up the war of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain. The speck of war which has arisen on our Northeastern boundary is caused by another hog, which animal owed allegiance to the Hudson's Bay Company, but made havoc among the potatoes of an American squatter in the island of San Juan.

The squatter shot the hog, and resisted an order for his arrest and transfer to the town of Victoria, for trial. This caused a threatened withdrawal of the protection which had been afforded to the American settlers by the Hudson's Bay Company from Indian hostility and depredations. Hence, an appeal was made by the settlers to Gen. Harney for protection, in compliance with which he sent Capt. Pickett and two skeleton companies to the place.

This procedure on the part of Gen. Harney will be approved and sustained; but such explanations will be made, and such measures taken as will prevent any collision between our troops and the British authorities .- Wash. Cor. Journal of Commerce.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION, Philadelphia.

A Benevolent Institution established by Special Endowment for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Virulent and

Epidemic Diseases.

Epidemic Diseases.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a charitable act worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give Medical Advice Gratis to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in case of extreme poverty, to Furnish Medicines Free of Charge.—It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of their Surgeons in the cure of Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self-Abuse, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-Abuse, and other diseases of the Sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be been ty mail (in a scaled envelope), Free of Charge, on receipt of Two Stamps for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of Sexual diseases, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or treatment, DR. J. SKILLIN

EZRA D. HEARTWELL. GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.

To Millers. EACH OWNER OF A FLOURING MILL should have one of J. Montgomery & Bro.'s Baltimore Wheat Fans, which expels all CHEAT, COCKLE, SMUT, and all impurities effectually from the wheat with no trouble, by attaching a band. The crop of wheat this year is much infected with these excresences, and good flour cannot be manufactured from the best of wheat thus infected. Passing once through will be sufficient to cleanse the foulest wheat, after chaffing.

NOTICE.—This is to certify that we bought of E. B. Drake & Son, Agents, one J. Montgomery & Brother's Baltimore made Wheat Fan Mills, and that we consider it the best Fan Mill we ever used, doing its work to our entire satisfaction. It effectually expels all cheat and cockle by running the wheat through a second time. W. C. MORRISON,

Read the following certificate:

J. S. MORRISON. Iredell Co., July 30, 1859.

Having purchased of E. B. Drake & Son, Agents, a Wheat Fan, manufactured by J. Montgomery & Bro., Baltimore, and tried its capacities thoroughly, I would state that it performs to my entire satisfaction—better than any Fan I ever used. It cleans the foulest wheat of all cheat and cockle. My wheat had no smut, but I think the Mongomery Fan will expel that also. DANIEL SIDES.

Iredell county, N. C., Aug. 4, 1859.

This certifies that W. C. & J. S. Morrison cleaned my wheat through Montgomery & Brother's Fan Mill, and on the first cleaning at least one-fourth was cheat and cockle, and on the second cleaning I never saw any cleaner wheat in my life.

Iredell co., N. C., Aug. 19, 1859.

These Fans are for sale in Statesville, N. L, at $34 (Baltimore price) freight added. E. B. DRAKE & SON

AGRICULTURAL.

Strawberries---Raspberries.

August and September are favorite months to plant out strawberries, with those who desire a crop of fruit the next season. In making a strawberry bed, a warm dry spot of ground should be chosen, with if possible, a good loamy ed for cooking, boil on the cob, in the or clayey subsoil. A moist wet situation is very unfavorable. It is best to subsoil at least two feet deep, and if the soil is poor, let it be well enriched with well-decayed stable manure. In setting out, take care that the plants ed, to boil for an hour. Then add a do not become dry from the time they are taken up till they are re-planted, and see that they do not wither after-

Many persons cut off the leaves, if they are afaid of their wilting under hot suns, but a much better plan is to shade. Inverted four-inch flower pots are excellent for this purpose; they will so invigorate them that the shade will only be required for a few days. Some time in September they may need a good watering; but this should saturation of the bed is given; and in a few days after, the hoe and rake should be employed to loosen and level the surface, which the heavy watering will in all probability, have caused to bake and become very crusty.

Strawberries are best grown in beds about four feet wide for the convenience in gathering the fruit, and giving them the best cultivation. About three rows in a bed, and the plant twelve inches apart in the row, will be a good has been perfected on the raspberry, the canes that have borne should be at once cut out. Some kinds throw up suckers very freely and by this means rob one another and cause a very poor crop to be produced the next season No time should be lost in thinning out the weaker ones, and only enough canes left that will be required to produce a crop the next season.

The raspberry ought to be so treated in the summer, that no pruning will be required in the spring, but to shorten the ends of the canes. In rare kinds, where it is of more importance to get up a stock of young plants than to get a crop of fruit, this advice will not of course apply. Blackberries will, in the main, require very much the same treatment as the raspberry.-They are also very liable to sucker up more than is desirable, and much attention will be required to keep them within due bounds. Neither of these two kinds of fruit should be planted near a lawn, as the roots, if they once get into the grass are very difficult of eradication, and are as troublesome as the vilest weeds .- Gardener's Monthly for August.

Colic in Horses.

Years ago, before nosebags were generally adopted, colic was more common than at the present day. In those days horses went out to work early in the morning and did not return until night, during which time, "owing to the want of some convenient mode for supplying them with food when out," they partook of none. The consequence was they returned home with their vital powers exhausted by work, and with keen appetites, bearing no relation to the capacity of the stomach or to the digestive powers, with avidity they swallowed the food then placed before them; it then entered the stomach not sufficiently insalvated or masticated, rendering it impossible for the gastric juices to act on it-it is a physiological opposite the Mansion Hotel. fact that if food is not properly saturated with saliva in the mouth it is with great difficulty that chemical action TROMAS MACKENZIE, Letablished (COSNO T. MACKENZIE) IN 1825. (COLIN B. MACKENZIE) necessary to digestion is set up in the stomach—and colic was the result.

To remedy this evil, Prof. Coleman suggested the use of the nosebag, in order that the horse, when standing during the loading or unloading to which he was yoked, might partake of adopted, cases of colic became rare, and happily continue so. The horse has a very small stomach when compared with the rest of the alimentary canal, which is quickly frequently supplied with feed. From the above remarks we learn that it is better to supply animals with a small quantity of food two or three times a day, in preference to a large quantity at one time. This plan I have proved in over and over again to be a good pracover and over again to be a good practice; but with all our care, (sometimes owing to the exhibition of an improper of steamers runs between Baltimore, Savannahand Charlesquantity of deteriorated food, as bran, turnips, etc., or a draught of cold water when the animal is heated—rarely, to when the animal is heated—rarely, we name the following as partial description of our CATHARTIC PILLS,
